Liz Claiborne

The Legend, The Woman

Art Ortenberg

To have lived a joyful life and to have departed that life a victim of a vicious cancer is, in brief, the story of Liz Claiborne's life. But the story is much more than that. Born in Brussels in 1929, the third and last child of a highborn American banker and his delicate, beautiful wife, she was born privileged and taught that privilege incurs responsibilities. She lived out her early years untouched by life and death during the ominous 1930s, until the ominous became the real and the family fled to America. Inheriting her father's love of paintings and museums and her mother's love of costumes and clothing, Liz early on discovered "the beauty of everyday things," and at the age of twenty won the Grand Award in the Harper's Junior Bazaar Design Contest, which earned her a trip to Paris to work for ten days with famed couturier Jacques Heim. For the next twenty-five years she worked as a designer and sketch artist before starting her own company with her husband Art Ortenberg. Liz Claiborne, Inc. was an immediate success, and was by 1981 a Fortune 500 company with $1.2 billion in sales.

In this book Art Ortenberg does not so much celebrate Liz Claiborne the designer and entrepreneur, but rather Liz the woman. "Liz left us more than her work," he concludes, "perhaps more than the consequences of her work; she left us herself. The making of that self, and the good she did for others, is the story I tell."

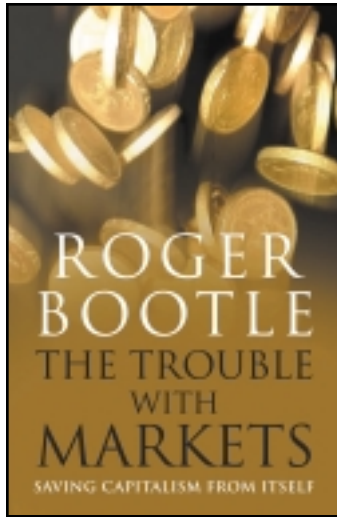

Art Ortenberg was Liz Claiborne's business partner as well as husband. In 1975 the two founded Liz Claiborne, Inc., today one of the most well known fashion companies in the world. Art lives in New York City and Canyon Creek, MT.

The Trouble with Markets

Saving Capitalism from Itself

Roger Bootle

In the spirit of John Kenneth Galbraith and Paul Krugman, Roger Bootle challenges readers to look at the deep causes of the current financial crisis—what went wrong and how to fix it.

“A brilliant book that puts markets in stunning perspective. Once again, Roger Bootle tackles, head on, some of the toughest economic questions of our time. An extraordinarily penetrating and absorbing analysis.” —Sir Brian Pitman, former Chairman, Lloyds TSB Group and Senior Advisor to Morgan Stanley

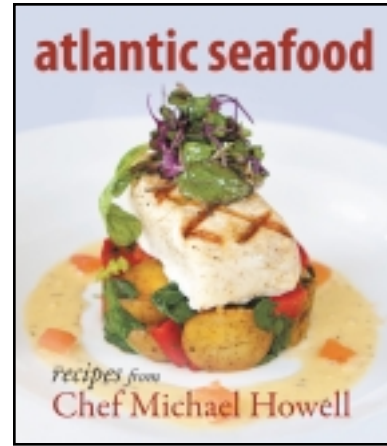

Written in his distinctive, highly readable style, the book examines a host of critical questions, including what investors should do with their money in turbulent times, and calls for a contraction of the overfed financial services sector. Provocative, radical and thoroughly international in scope, The Trouble with Markets is sure to appeal to financial types and general readers alike.

Roger Bootle, one of world’s most respected economists and managing director of Capital Economics, is also the author of the prophetic books, The Death of Inflation and Money for Nothing. He lives in London, UK.

Becoming Teddy Roosevelt

How a Maine Guide Inspired America's 26th President

Andrew Vietze

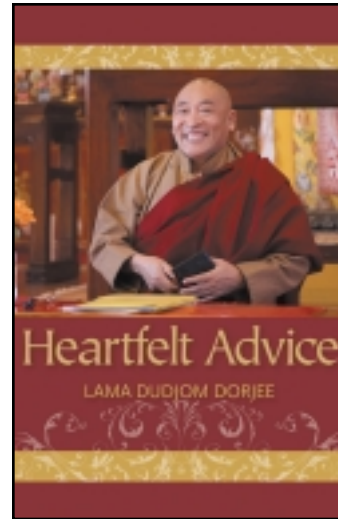

When Theodore Roosevelt went into the Maine woods with legendary Maine guide Bill Sewall, he was a sickly, asthmatic city boy. When he emerged several trips later, he was a robust, confident outdoorsman—the kind of man who could be president. This book describes the lifelong friendship between the twenty-sixth president and the lumberman from Island Falls and explores how that bond changed Roosevelt and why it matters today.

Andrew Vietze is a freelance writer based in Ap-pleton, Maine. He is also a Registered Maine Guide and a seasonal ranger in Baxter State Park. A former editor at Down East magazine, he's also written for Time Out New York, Crawdaddy!, PopMatters, AMC Outdoors, and Offshore, among others. In 2008, he won an International Regional Magazine Association award for his historical writing.

DOWN EAST BOOKS

Heartfelt Advice

Lama Dudjom Dorjee

Buddhist books can sometimes feel a little over-whelming for newcomers. There's a lot of unfamiliar material—new terms, new concepts—and it can be frustrating to put it all together. Sometimes we just need a little help.

In Heartfelt Advice Lama Dudjom Dorjee seems to take us by the hand, guiding us along. With ninety-four separate sections, he gives an overview of basic Buddhist topics, in small digestible bites, fostering greater understanding of the main principles of Buddhist practice and giving us keen insight into the vast array of considerations on the path.

Though the book can certainly be read from cover to cover, each section is intended to be read as a stand-alone unit and is suitable for those seeking daily Buddhist inspiration. More seasoned students will appreciate the clearly elucidated points, finding Heartfelt Advice to be a very useful study companion when reading other texts.

Tibetan-born Lama Dudjom Dorjee came to the U.S. at the request of the 16th Gyalwa Karmapa. Since 1998, he has been the resident teacher of Karma Thegsum Choling in Dallas.

SNOW LION PUBLICATIONS

Brangelina

Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie

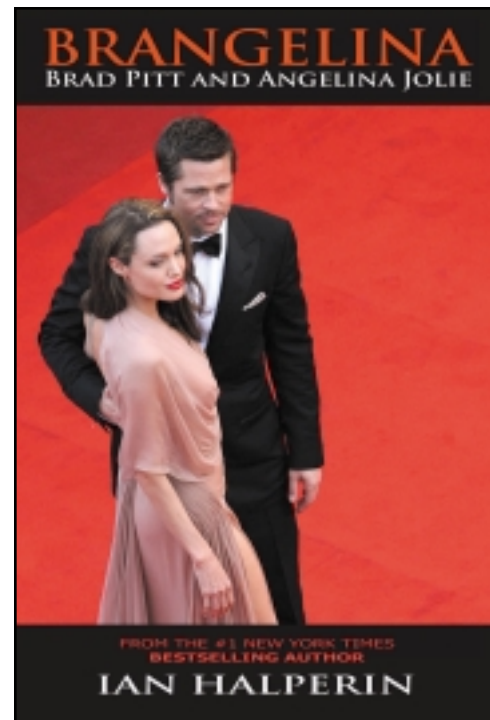

Ian Halperin

Ian Halperin, New York Times bestselling author of Unmasked: The Final Years of Michael Jackson, explores the relationship of the world's most famous celebrity couple with exclusive revelations and personal anecdotes. This Supercouple, unlike any other, consistently turns heads, rolls cameras, and delivers action. The rugged, yet debonair, actor Brad Pitt (Fight Club, The Curious Case of Benjamin Button, Inglorious Basterds) and the always sexy and illustrious actress Angelina Jolie (Girl Interrupted, Lara Croft: Tomb Raider, Changeling) have made a lasting impression through their movies and their magic . . .

Pitt and Jolie met on the set of the 2005 film Mr. & Mrs. Smith. Their friendship became the focus of a much-publicized Hollywood scandal. It was alleged that the couple started an affair while Pitt was still married to Jennifer Aniston. Pitt and Jolie have each denied this on several occasions, but admitted that they "fell in love" at that time. In April 2005, a month after Aniston filed for divorce, paparazzi photos emerged that seemed to confirm rumors of a relationship between Pitt and Jolie. The entertainment media dubbed the couple "Brangelina."

- Find out the truth behind Angelina's notorious French kiss with her brother James at the 2000 Oscars
- Learn about her childhood and estrangement from her father Jon Voight
- Discover the truth of Brad's marriage to everybody's friend, Jennifer Aniston, and of her readiness to have children
- Read about the true circumstances of the affair between Brad and Angelina along with their stormy & unstable relationship
- Find out about Angelina's ongoing lesbian relationship with her former Foxfire co-star Jenny Shimizu

Based in New York City, Ian Halperin is a journalist, filmmaker and author of ten books. A specialist in undercover investigations, he contributes to FoxNews.com, E Channel and Court TV. He was the author of the #1 New York Times Best-seller, Unmasked: The Final Years of Michael Jackson published in 2009.

The Brazilian Kitchen

100 Classic and Creative Recipes for the Home Cook

Leticia Moreinos Schwartz

Like its soccer and samba, beautiful beaches and carnival, Brazilian cooking is an explosion of color and flavor. Leticia Moreinos Schwartz spent her childhood in Rio's paradise neighborhood Ipanema and grew up eating Caldinho de Feijo all day and drinking fresh coconut water on the beach, and was therefore homesick for this culture when she moved to New York to attend culinary school and then work in some of the world's top restaurant kitchens. Cooking for herself, she went back to the Brigadeiros and Baba de Moca of her childhood but found that her palate had changed. She began to reinterpret classic Brazilian dishes as a chef, making them a little lighter and less sweet for our health-conscious age and a lot easier to recreate at home. The result is this groundbreaking collection of 100 delicious classic and inspirational recipes. With simple techniques and well-explained directions, dishes like Meat Croquettes, Salmon over a Caipirinha Risotto, Broccoli and Minas Cheese Souffles, and Molten Dulce de Leche Cake with a Sour Cream Sorbet will simply become part of your everyday cooking repertoire. Including interesting regional and ingredient notes for each recipe, as well as beautiful photography of Brazilian marketplaces, Leticia brings a welcome Copacabana-born breeze into every home kitchen.

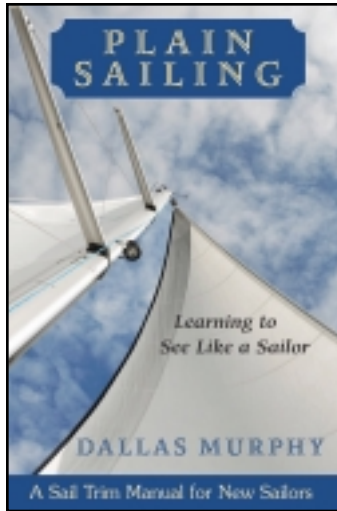

Leticia Moreinos Schwartz was born and raised in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and moved to New York in 1997, enrolling in the French Culinary Institute and, after graduation, working in the kitchens of many of the top New York City restaurants. In 2000, she moved to Connecticut and started her own catering and cooking instruction business, teaching at schools such as The Institute of Culinary Education and the French Culinary Institute, where she has built up loyal followings. Leticia has appeared in several local publications and TV segments.

KYLE BOOKS

Plain Sailing
A Sail-Trim Manual for New Sailors
 Dallas Murphy

“Murphy steers aspiring sailors through the maze of jargon and effortlessly explains basic sailing concepts. He is that rare combination, a professional writer who thinks like a sailor, or as he puts it, ‘someone who sees the wind.’ Anyone who has been intimidated or frustrated trying to learn to sail must read Plain Sailing. It will be a revelation.” —John Kretschmer, Contributing Editor, Sailing Magazine

Plain Sailing will help the new sailor understand the principles and practice of sail trim—the adjustment of sails such that they interact most efficiently with the wind. There is a direct relationship between sailing efficiency and sailing fun. Knowing when, how, and why to trim your sails is the essence of sailing. If you understand trim, you understand sailing.

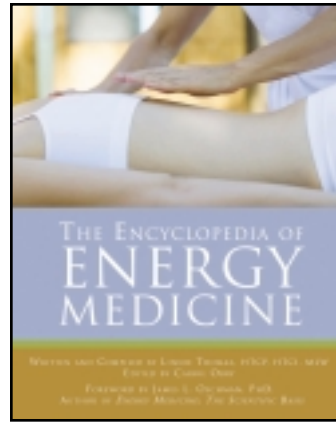

Plain Sailing also covers how to look at sails, how to distinguish good trim from bad, how to diagnose a blown-out sail, and much more. This book will be essential reading for all beginning sailors.

Dallas Murphy is the author of Rounding the Horn and other books. He lives in New York City.

Little Girl Lost

Money, Fame and Britney Spears

Christopher Heard

Since her first appearance on national television in 1992 on “Star Search,” Mississippi-born American singer and entertainer Britney Jean Spears has had an explosive impact on the music industry and pop-culture worldwide. Britney does it all: she sings, dances, writes and composes. A monster success!

From “Star Search” to the Disney Channel’s “The New Mickey Mouse Club,” Spears established herself as a pop icon and “bona fide pop phenomenon” with her debut hit album “. . . Baby One More Time” leading the teen pop revival in the late 1990s.

When Britney Spears first burst onto the music scene, she was the incarnation of American clean-cut youth. But this changed, and she rose to become the sexiest superstar of her generation. Spears constantly changes her style in fashion and music, making her an unstoppable force in entertainment. But in the process, she has discovered the true price of fame and experienced an emotional tumble that led to a well-publicized nervous breakdown.

Spears’ personal life has been a frequent subject of celebrity and tabloid journalism. She has been married and divorced twice—most notably from Kevin Federline—has two children, and has been the subject of a reality TV show with Federline, “Britney & Kevin: Chaotic.” Divorce, rehab, and an unforgettable trip to the hair salon made Spears’ life a bonanza for the weekly magazines and the roving paparazzi.

With the faithful help of her father and family, along with the support of her many fans, Spears seems to have renewed herself and her colossal music career with the release of a new album, “Circus,” and a new tour.

What happened? Why did Britney fall? And how did the star bounce back? And will it last?

Celebrity biographer (Johnny Depp, Kiefer Sutherland, Mickey Rourke) Christopher Heard takes a closer look at the phenomenon of Britney Spears and her struggles to stay on top. Toronto-based Christopher Heard built his career out of a lifetime passion for the history and culture of film and TV.

25 Essentials: Techniques for Planking

25 Essentials: Techniques for Grilling Fish

Karen Adler and Judith Fertig

In these, the latest entries in our 25 Essentials series, two enticing topics—plank cooking and grilling fish—get the “essentials” treatment. Once again, these handy little books provide everything readers need to know on these topics, making them simple, approachable, fun, and delicious. Renowned outdoor-cooking experts Karen Adler and Judith Fertig have distilled their vast knowledge into these two indispensable volumes that are sure to be treasured by novices and experts alike.

Each of the 25 recipes in these nifty guides introduces a distinct technique or approach. In Techniques for Planking, readers learn how to master the increasingly popular but sometimes mysterious process of cooking on a wood plank, the easy way to infuse food with the beguiling flavor of smoke. The authors provide a primer on selecting, preparing, and using a plank for tantalizing results indoors or out. Simple but impressive fare such as Plank-Roasted Pears with Blue Cheese, Kiss-of-Smoke Planked Shrimp with Béarnaise Butter, and Planked Beef Fillets with Porcini Slather demonstrate how tasty and versatile plank cooking can be.

With Grilling Fish in hand, anyone can learn to expand the grilling repertoire with delicious, nutritious seafood; Karen and Judith take all the guesswork out of cooking fish and shellfish on the grill. Just check out the “Wow!” factor in dishes ranging from Baja-Style Fish Tacos to Grilled Crab Cakes with Chile-Lime Sauce to Stir-Grilled Salmon with Cherry Tomatoes and Sugar Snap Peas.

In both books, every recipe is accompanied by a gorgeous color photo; a concise but thorough introduction covers all the basics. Simple, short, and sweet, these guides are truly essential reading for the outdoor chef.

Karen Adler and Judith Fertig, two longtime friends from Kansas City, Missouri, have collectively authored more than 20 cookbooks, 13 of them on the subject of barbecue and grilling, including Fish & Shellfish, Grilled & Smoked; The BBQ Queens' Big Book of Barbecue; BBQ Bash; and Weeknight Grilling with the Barbecue Queens. They hold Ph.B. (Doctors of Barbecue Philosophy) degrees from Greasehouse University and are members of the prestigious culinary organization Les Dames d'Escoffier.

The Little White Book of Baseball Law

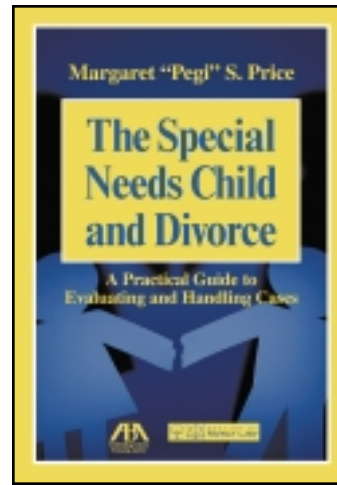

John "Jack" H. Minan and Kevin Cole

From free agency and scalping tickets, to the infamous Bartman Ball, this book has it all. The game of baseball has often resulted in brawls, both on the field and in the courtroom, and from the 1890's on, much of what baseball is today has been shaped by the law. In eighteen chapters, this eye-opening book discusses cases that involved rules of the game, new stadium construction, ownership of baseball memorabilia, injured spectators, television contracts, and much more.

This book will appeal to lawyers and sports fans alike, and is written in a short-story format with additional references to movies, songs, history, and other asides that will add to the reader's enjoyment. Discover an entirely new facet to America's favorite pastime with this one-of-a-kind book!

John "Jack" H. Minan is a Professor of Law at the University of San Diego where he teaches Property, Land Use Planning and Water Law. He lives in San Diego, California. Kevin Cole also lives in San Diego, California.

The Special Needs Child and Divorce

A Practical Guide to Handling and Evaluating Cases

Margaret "Pegi" S. Price

Families with special needs children have much higher divorce rates and their cases often involve more specialized handling. The Special Needs Child and Divorce takes a practical look at what special needs are, how they are relevant in the arena of divorce, and what lawyers can do to make the system work better for these children and their families. Filled with numerous practice tips, the book includes useful legal forms that illustrate how modifications are needed to adequately address issues raised by a special needs child. Includes additional sample forms and documents, checklists, plentiful resource materials, and contact information for national organizations and state agencies. Forms are also provided on CD-ROM.

Margaret "Pegi" S. Price is an attorney in St. Louis, MO.

Say Goodbye to the Cuckoo

Michael McCarthy

The return of migrant birds from their wintering grounds in the tropics is one of the delights of America's spring, as anyone will testify whose heart has leapt in April or May at the first liquid song of the woodthrush, or the first black-and-orange flash of the Baltimore oriole. But in recent years concern has grown that migrant birds may be declining, perhaps because of deforestation at their winter quarters in the Caribbean and in Central and South America. Now comes the first evidence that such declines are indeed happening to migrant birds. They pour into the Northern Hemisphere each year in a multi-colored, singing cascade: cuckoos, swallows, martins, swifts, turtle doves, warblers, wagtails, wheatears, chats, nightingales, nightjars, thrushes, pipits, and flycatchers. The vanishing of these Old World birds would be not just an environmental loss but a cultural disaster of enormous magnitude, as many of these species have resonated through literature, legends, and folklore for thousands of years. The turtle dove's arrival is announced in the Bible's Song of Solomon; the nightingale sings from Latin poetry to John Keats to a 1940s hit in London's Berkeley Square; the European cuckoo, with its double note that is a perfect musical interval—a minor third—is the source of proverbs in every country of the continent.

In Say Goodbye to the Cuckoo, Michael McCarthy highlights for the first time the disappearance of these birds which, he points out, are a part of Europe's distinctive cultural furniture, "as much as cathedrals, Latin, olive oil, or wine." He shows how their loss would do devastating damage to the cultural inheritance of us all. And he adds a special chapter on the American situation. With 13 woodcuts.

Michael McCarthy is one of Britain's leading writers on the environment. Formerly environment correspondent for the Times of London, for the last ten years he has been environment editor of the Independent. Three times he has been named environment reporter of the year and in 2007 was awarded the medal of the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds for an outstanding contribution to conservation, the first time in its hundred-year history that the medal had been awarded to a journalist.

BRAUN—Fifty Years of Design and Innovation

Bernd Polster

Braun products have been shown more frequently at exhibitions than those of any other comparable company. They reflect basic human values such as authenticity and integrity. Braun is not merely a trademark; it stands for an encompassing concept. For the last five decades, this concept has spawned innovative products with an unprecedented regularity that begs to be explained. The company's design department is not merely an appendage, but rather an active decision-maker in the development of products from the initial ideas to realization.

Bernd Polster is one of the best-known German design authors. Nearly all of his books have been translated into other languages as well. During his university studies he tried to learn dialectic thinking from philosopher Leo Kofler.

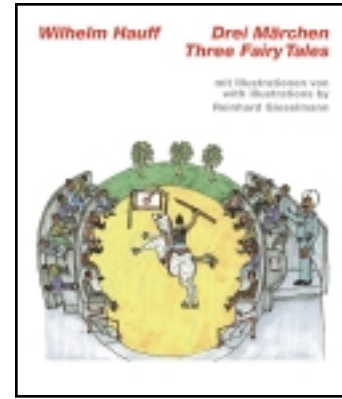

Stadtstagebücher

Hans Dieter Schaal

The architect Hans Dieter Schaal, who has designed scenery for almost every major theatre and opera house in the world, often spent many days in the same city. He began to research the cities, to get the feel of them and to travel them on foot like a wanderer. Alongside these subjective impressions, the author presents plenty of facts, making this richly illustrated book in German an accurate picture of an age dominated by cities. Travels to following cities are described in this book: Rome, Venice, Warsaw, Singapore, Tel Aviv, Jerusalem, Lisbon, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Las Vegas, Vienna, Paris, Tartu, Tallinn, New York, Moscow, Saint Petersburg, Barcelona, Geneva, Brussels, London.

Hans Dieter Schaal is a trained architect living near Stuttgart, Germany. He works as a designer of buildings, gardens, stage sets and exhibitions.

Wilhelm Hauff, Three Fairy Tales

With illustrations by Reinhard Gieselmann

Considering his brief life, Wilhelm Hauff (1802–1827) was an extraordinarily prolific writer. The freshness and originality of his talent, his inventiveness and his genial humour have won him a high place among southern Germany prose writers of the early nineteenth century. This bi-lingual edition (German/English) contains three of his famous fairy tales (The Cold Heart, Said's Adventures, The Cave of Steenfol) telling from the search for riches, fame and power which often brings with it greed, inhumanity and violence. The fairy tales are accompanied by sensitive and colorful illustrations by Reinhard Gieselmann.

Reinhard Gieselmann, born in 1925, studied architecture and was professor at the Technische Universität in Vienna from 1969 until 1992.

EDITION AXEL MENGES

Fifty Years of Queer Cinema

500 of the Best GLBTQ Films Ever Made

Darwin Porter and Danforth Prince

As late as 1958, homosexuality couldn't even be mentioned in a movie, as proven by the elaborate rituals the producers of Tennessee Williams' swampy drama, Cat on a Hot Tin Roof, used to evade the obvious fact that its hero, Paul Newman, was playing it gay. And in spite of the elaborate lengths its producers took to camouflage its lavender aspects, in-the-know viewers in the late '50s realized all along that Joe E. Brown was fully aware that Jack Lemmon wasn't a biological female ("nobody's perfect") in the Marilyn Monroe film Some Like It Hot (1959).

That kind of baroque subterfuge ended abruptly in 1960, when cinema emerged from its celluloid closet with the release of Boys in the Band. Decades later came Brokeback Mountain, Transamerica, and Milk.

Except for the lead character in Bruno (2009), we are no longer faggots, fairies, pansies, or victims to be mocked, murdered, beaten, castrated, and/or driven to suicide. This comprehensive anthology documents it all, bringing into focus a sweeping rundown of cinema's most intriguing Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual, Transgendered, and "Queer Questioning" films that deserves a place at home next to the DVD player as well as on the reference shelves of public libraries.

Out, outrageous, provocative, and proud, and with historical ironies and a definite sense of humor, this book focuses on cult icons which seem to be moving inexorably into America's mainstream: Gay cowboys, gay Nazis, nude marines, ballsy detectives, vulnerable porn stars, leather/S&M fetish groups, and lots of women in love—with each other.

Crucial to all this is the fact that new DVD releases have made these films available to new generations of viewers for the first time since their original release. More than just a dusty library reference, this book is filled with dozens of X-rated "special features" which shamelessly spill 50 quasi-closeted years of Hollywood secrets, focusing on filmdom's most exciting bombshells and its most charismatic hunks. Though many were familiar off screen with "the love that dare not speak its name," this book displays some of those secrets in glorious Technicolor.

The scent of lavender, the smell of testosterone, and the aroma of velvet. IT'S ALL HERE.

How India's Top Ten Entrepreneurs are Winning Globally

Vikas Pota

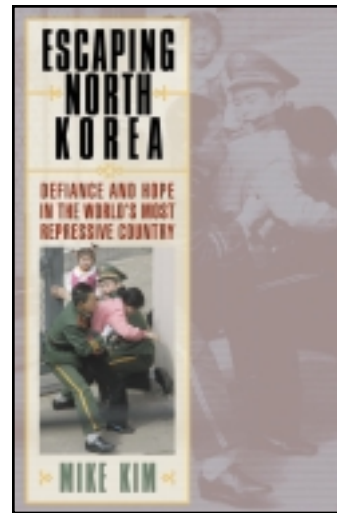

The emergence of India as an economic superpower has challenged business leaders to learn all they can about the fastest-growing economy in the world. What better way to do so than to observe India's high achievers? From fields as diverse as biotechnology, entertainment and green energy, Pota profiles ten of India's movers and shakers, including Narayana Murthy, Chairman of Infosys; K. V. Kamath, Chairman of ICICI Bank; and role model Kiran Mazumdar Shaw, who broke through the male-dominated Indian business world to become Chairwoman of Biocon India, Asia's largest biotechnology company. India Inc. sifts through the jargon, dusts off the myths and spells out in simple terms what the future holds for the country and the world at large. Pota proves that India is well on its way to providing the next set of role models—to follow Bill Gates, Richard Branson, and Warren Buffet—revealing who those business leaders are and what makes them tick.

Vikas Pota is Managing Director of Saffron Chase Ltd., a media relations company with an award-winning India Practice. She lives in London, UK.

Escaping North Korea

Defiance and Hope in the World's Most Repressive Country

Mike Kim

This unique book provides a rare inside look into the hidden world of ordinary North Koreans. Mike Kim, one of the few Americans granted entry into the secretive "Hermit Kingdom," came to know the isolated country and its people intimately. His North Korean friends entrusted their secrets to him as for the first time they recounted their experiences enduring famine, sex-trafficking, and torture in the gulags. Kim also led refugees to asylum through Asia's 6,000-mile underground railway, and he tells the inspirational stories of those who overcame tremendous adversity to escape the repressive regime of their homeland and make new lives. Kim now shares their stories in an unflinching narrative that exposes the truth about North Korea, stripping away the last veils that still shroud this brutal dictatorship.

Mike Kim is a Korean-American activist who founded the NGO Crossing Borders and spent three years in North Korea and China helping North Korean refugees escape their repressive country. He lives in Washington, D.C.

The Power and the Pain

Transforming Spiritual Hardship into Joy

Andrew Holecek

Can we find diamonds in the mud? Is it possible to mine joy and strength from our daily difficulties?

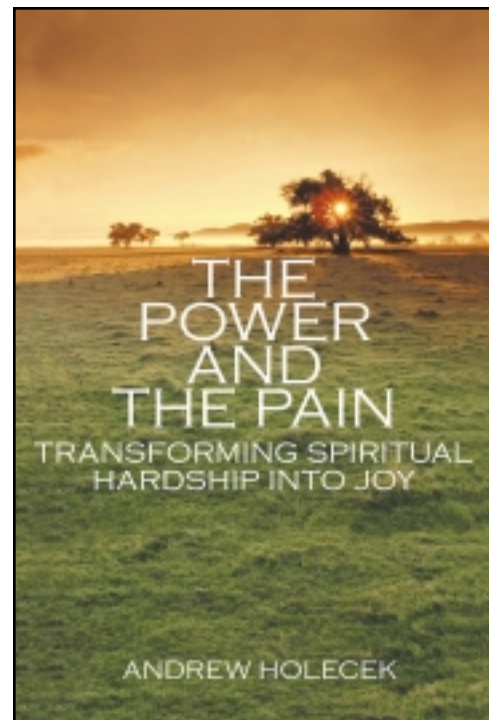

We all encounter obstacles on a daily basis—from small inconveniences and nuisances to the really big hardships wreaking havoc with our lives. Sometimes just the small things are enough to set us reeling.

The Power and the Pain addresses these issues head on. Of course we will always be subject to problems. It is how we view them that can change. In fact, this change of perspective is the very ground from which we can develop our previously untapped inner power and strength.

Andrew Holecek offers us a progressive path, beginning with common, easily understood hardships, and moving on to more subtle and challenging ones that commonly arise on our spiritual journeys. While the material is mostly drawn from Buddhist principles, many wisdom traditions are encompassed, including modern science, philosophy and psychology.

This is an indispensable guidebook for spiritual travelers seeking a way to synthesize experience and practice, and with this find transformational personal growth.

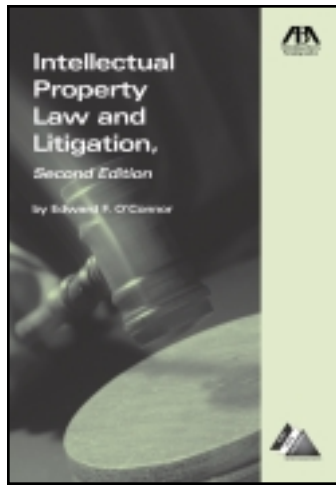

Andrew Holecek has been traveling the spiritual path for his entire adult life and for the past twenty years has been a serious practitioner of Tibetan Buddhism. Readers may be familiar with Holecek from his contributions to such Buddhist periodicals as Shambhala Sun and Elephant and from his regular column on death and dying for Bodhi Magazine. Founder of the Forum of Living and Dying, he teaches seminars throughout the country on spiritual hardship and the Tibetan views of life, death, and beyond. Holecek is also the co-founder of the Himalayan Dental Relief Project, which serves impoverished children in five Asian countries. He is currently adjunct faculty at Naropa University and the Ngedon School of Buddhist Studies and lives in Denver, CO.

Intellectual Property Law and Litigation

Practical and Irreverent Insights

Edward F. O'Connor

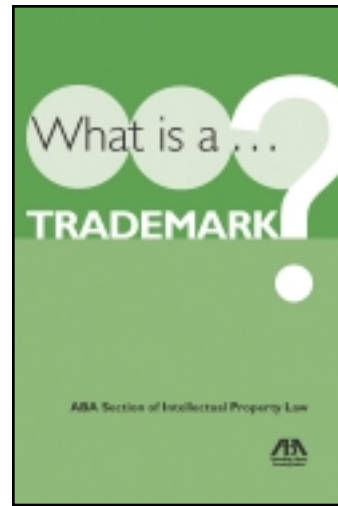

This irreverent but amusing and informative book is a combination of actual courtroom experiences as well as discussion of intellectual property law and litigation principles. The book is written for intellectual property practitioners, including prosecutors and litigators, and also in-house corporate counsel and people in business who may not actually practice intellectual property litigation but who employ intellectual property litigators. In short, anyone who needs to be conversant with the fundamental principles and language of intellectual property law will benefit from—and enjoy—this book.

This book discusses the principles of law in the context of cases that O'Connor has actually tried or in which he has been involved—providing a real-world framework to make the principles easier to understand and remember. The book also contains O'Connor's personal views on cases and the law.

Edward F. O'Connor lives in Irvine, CA.

Seasonal Spanish Food

125 Simple Recipes Bring Home the Flavors of Spain

José Pizarro; Foreword by Elena Arzak

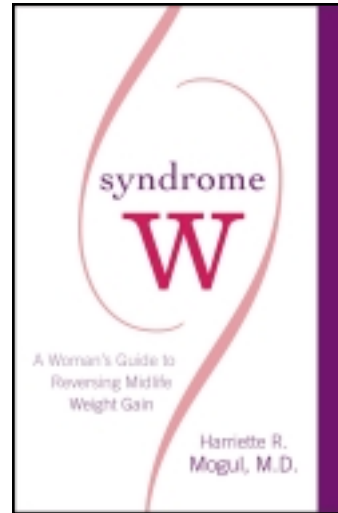

Pizarro's message couldn't be simpler: use fresh, seasonal ingredients and they will speak for themselves. Season by season, he explores his favorite ingredients from different Spanish regions, the culture and history behind them, and how best to use them with his exceptional yet simple recipes. With anecdotes about typical Spanish pastimes and stories from his youth growing up on a farm in Extremadura, this is a truly Spanish approach to the cuisine. Try a Pea Soup with Serrano Ham to welcome Spring; add extra virgin olive oil, lime juice, and black pepper to the most ripe of summer fruits to bring out their flavor; and create some authentic Spanish meatballs to warm you in winter—these are recipes that you will turn to again and again for any occasion.

José Pizarro's first head chef job was at El Mesón de Doña Filo, a Michelin-starred restaurant in Spain. He now runs the kitchens at the Brindisa restaurants in London, named after the Spanish foods import company set up by his colleague Monika Linton. This is his first book.

The Diaries of Avalon Rose

Entwined Desires

Sharon Hooper

The Diaries of Avalon Rose, Entwined Desires, picks up where Vol. 1, First Blush, leaves off.

Second in The Diaries series, our Avalon of 1877 inherits a run-down cottage in Chipping Norton, England, and discovers a trunk full of journals and diaries—all written by generations of women named Avalon Rose!

Not only does Avalon continue her spicy life-style, falling in love with her first employer at Highgate, but she is now joined by her mother's narratives beginning in 1840.

The mother, Avalon Rose, leads a life just as adventurous and headstrong as her daughter. For her trouble, she is banished to a convent in Italy by her parents. Naturally, she escapes and begins a risky path of romance that leads her all the way to the Vatican!

Meanwhile, our first Avalon starts a high fashion design salon and is busy teaching the art of sex to London's society women.

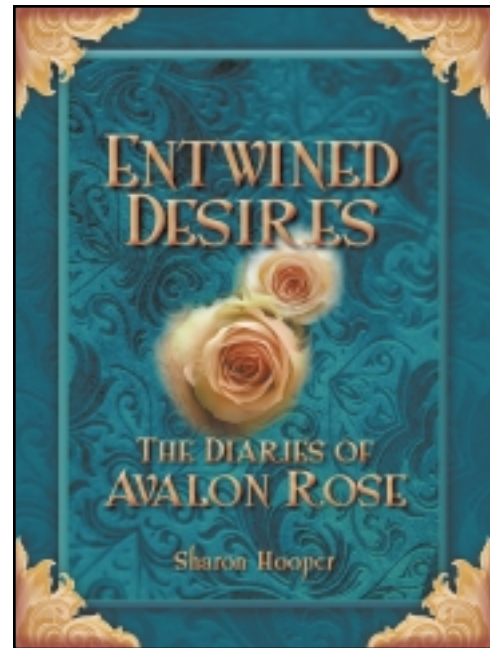

Written with humor, passion, romance and eros, both Avalons tell two bold tales simultaneously. Mother and daughter are determined to live their lives on their own terms, and allow no one to dictate their behavior or dreams.

Avalon's merry adventures will leave the reader gasping and wanting more.

"This promising debut is the first in a series of illustrated sensual diaries. The heroine will captivate readers with her quirky personality and the other characters enliven the pages." 4 stars (compelling, page turner) —RT Book Reviews

"Superb job of blending a passionate story with intriguing characters...both titillating and scorching...leaves reader eagerly turning next page...for any fan of historical romance, this a book you must read..." A reviewer's TOP PICK!" —NightowlRomance.com

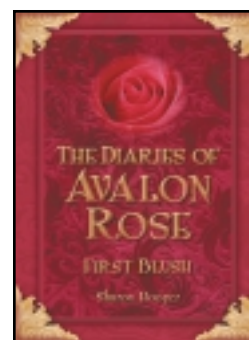

Sharon Hooper, aka Avalon Rose, has a long history of adventurous careers, including working at the Pentagon, to being the president of a multi-million dollar boutique record label, to becoming a certified business and personal coach. As a writer she has written regular columns for United Press International and Sedona News. She is also the creator of the Wisdom of Mary Magdalene card deck, and The Diaries of Avalon Rose, First Blush. Sharon lives in Sedona, AZ with her writer-husband, Richard.

The Art of Cross Examination by Francis L. Wellman

Francis L. Wellman

This handsome book is part of the new ABA Classics Series. These authoritative, affordable, and beautifully designed editions of the world's greatest law books are perfect for any law library or office, or as a gift for anyone involved, or interested, in the law.

This volume of the ABA Classics Series is The Art of Cross-Examination. In the history of the law there have been many great treatises written by many great legal minds, but only a few have had the influence and staying power to truly be called the classics. The Art of Cross-Examination by famed nineteenth-century trial lawyer Francis L. Wellman is certainly one of these books.

First published in 1903, The Art of Cross-Examination is a compulsively readable theory of cross-examination, enriched with entertaining and enlightening examples drawn from Wellman's own practice, cross-examinations from other celebrated litigators, and those from the infamous cases of the day.

Francis L. Wellman is deceased.

The Common Law by Oliver Wendell Holmes

Oliver Wendell Holmes

This handsome book is part of the new ABA Classics Series. These authoritative, affordable, and beautifully designed editions of the world's greatest law books are perfect for any law library or office or as a gift for anyone involved, or interested, in the law.

This volume of the ABA Classics Series is The Common Law. In the history of the law there have been many great treatises written by many great legal minds, but only a few have had the influence and staying power to truly be called the classics. The Common Law by famed Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr. is certainly one of these books.

First published in 1881, The Common Law has retained its relevance through the elegant writing of Justice Holmes and the sound, thorough coverage of everything from criminal law to possession and ownership to torts. Few books have had this lasting influence on a profession, and earned as profound a reputation within it.

Hit & Mrs.

Lesley Crewe

Linda, Bette, Gemma, and Augusta are four lifelong friends who live in Montreal. This year they're all going to turn forty, so they decide to take a trip to New York together (courtesy of Linda's philandering husband's Visa Platinum). But at the LaGuardia airport washroom, Bette accidentally switches bags with a young mother who's actually smuggling diamonds for the mob, and things start going terribly wrong. When they kill an aggressive cab driver with pepper spray, the four friends know this is not going to be the trip of shopping and Broadway shows they'd expected. A series of miscommunications and mishaps entangles the friends even farther into the criminal underworld of New York. But out of all the bad luck (Linda's husband is staying at the same hotel as the friends, with his new girlfriend) and bad people (mobsters, drug addicts, and Linda's husband) emerge four forty-year-old avengers of truth and justice. In the style of Crewe's Shoot Me, Hit and Mrs. is a wildly entertaining comedic romp.

Lesley Crewe is the author of Ava Comes Home (2008), Shoot Me (2006), and Relative Happiness (2005), which was shortlisted for the Margaret and John Savage First Book Award. Previously a freelance writer and columnist for Cape Bretoner magazine, she currently writes a column for Cahoots online magazine. Born in Montreal, Lesley lives in Homeville, Nova Scotia.

The High-Impact Middle Manager

Powerful Strategies to Thrive in the Middle

Lisa Haneberg

The High-Impact Middle Manager demonstrates how to transform mediocre managers, who rush from task to task but miss the big picture, into managers who are able to connect all of their activities to both their company's strategic and personal career goals. The book begins by helping managers realize a new appreciation for the organizational role they play. Next, middle managers are given new tools that show them how to demonstrate business results. They also receive invaluable instruction on how to manage both their time and projects for success. Along the way, readers get tips for optimizing work performance and demonstrating leadership capacity—central attributes of great middle managers. The final section of the book provides a practical implementation roadmap.

Lisa Haneberg is an expert in the areas of management, leadership, and organizational success. She is currently Vice President and OD Consulting Practices Lead for Management Performance International, a consulting firm based in Cincinnati, OH. She is also the author of Organization Development Basics (ASTD Press 2005) and Coaching Basics (ASTD Press 2006).

The Struggle to Limit Government

A Modern Political History

John Samples

In 1980, Ronald Reagan said, "It is time to check and reverse the growth of government, which shows signs of having grown beyond the consent of the governed." A little more than 25 years later, Barack Obama declared the Reagan Revolution over. This book energetically explores the nearly 30-year struggle to limit American government by first setting the struggle in the big-government context created by the New Deal and the Great Society. The book assesses Reagan's successes and failures to limit government and examines the 1994 election as a mandate to continue those efforts. It then traces the move of the Republican majority in Congress, starting in 1997, away from Reagan's legacy and highlights George W. Bush's rejection of limited government in favor of high spending, mixing religion with government, and crusading to bring democracy to foreign lands—a crusade that began and ended in Iraq with the 2006 and 2008 elections.

John Samples is Director of the Cato Institute's Center for Representative Government. He resides in Washington, D.C.

Beyond Religion

The Personal Search for Truth

Barbara Mayer

In Beyond Religion, a former Roman Catholic nun speaks out about narrow definitions and dogmatic perspectives about God, or "truth," as defined by patriarchal Christian theology, noting that the Church's intransience is increasingly leading to dissent and a mass exodus from the pews.

Mayer rejects self-limiting ideas about what "truth" is, and argues that the Church's definition is no longer meaningful or fulfilling in this, humanity's third axial age.

Mayer points out that ten per cent of all Americans are FORMER Roman Catholics, but does not believe people have left the Church because they are no longer spiritual. On the contrary, Mayer argues that now, more than ever, people are searching for a meaningful personal spirituality that transcends simplistic doctrines and dogmas.

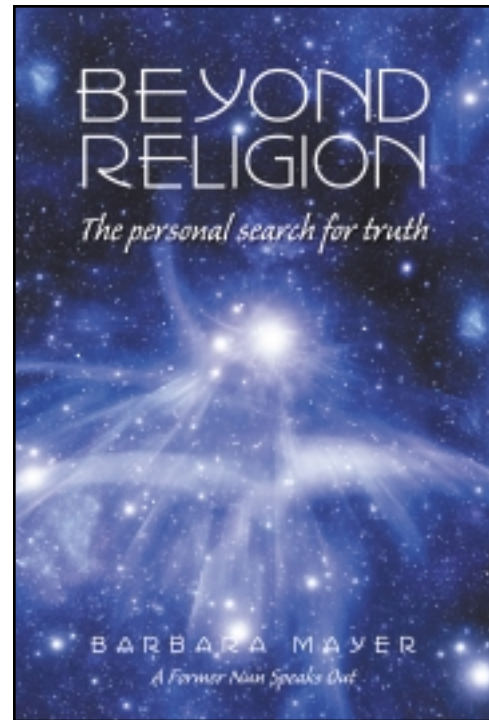

Beyond Religion is a guide book for the spiritual pilgrim. Mayer's "sacred yearning" not only led to her own spiritual transformation, but enables her to offer hope and meaning to all those who have the courage to embrace the unknown.

Beyond Religion covers numerous subjects such as understanding one's religious roots, a new perspective on the historical Jesus and Christ Mind, how spiritual feminism is changing the religious landscape, quantum and non-linear ways of thinking, Eastern philosophy, dualism vs. monism, meditation, mysticism, healing and wholeness.

Having been a nun for thirteen years, Barbara Mayer is in a unique position to offer personal insights into religious doubt, depression, and the dark night of the soul. By having taken the road less traveled herself, she is able to help lead others forward toward spiritual maturity and personal transformation.

In the end, Beyond Religion is about God as Divine Mystery, the Great Source that compels all true seekers to never cease seeking, never cease growing, and never cease opening the heart.

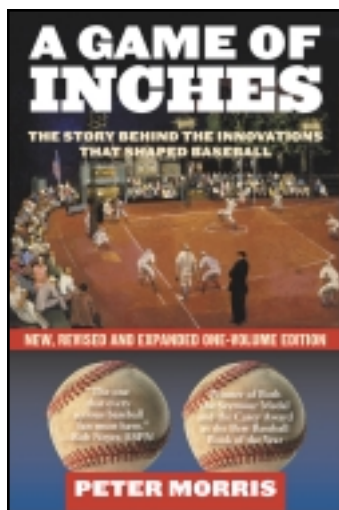

After thirteen years as a Roman Catholic nun, Barbara Mayer has continued studies in world religions, belief systems and philosophies, from West to East. Dedicated to finding Truth beyond the teachings of patriarchal hierarchies and self-serving religious pundits, Mayer is a spiritual facilitator, meditation guide, Reiki master and poet. With careers in journalism and education, she has gone from days as a "singing nun" to living in Sedona, Arizona, where she writes and champions personal spirituality in a caring, compassionate lifestyle for all.

KYLE BOOKS

The Killing of Mindi Quintana

Jeffrey A. Cohen

This well-written novel by an experienced lawyer-turned-entrepreneur, Philadelphia-based author Jeffrey A. Cohen, is a legal story unlike any other you will read this year.

The murder is newsworthy. The victim is the beautiful daughter of a formerly prominent Philadelphia businessman whose bribery trial a few years back captivated the city.

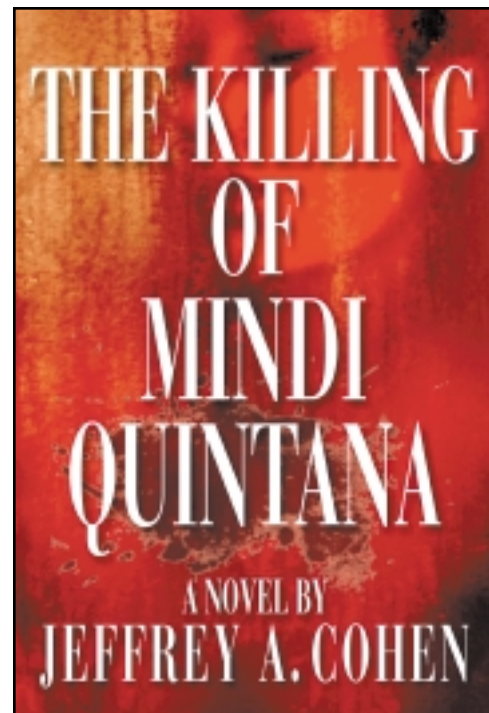

The killer gives articulate jailhouse interviews, and even goes national with a deftly handled call-in appearance on "Larry King."

A "Court TV" trial in the offing, excerpts of the murderer's book begin appearing to favorable review. With mounting horror, Philip, his attorney observes his client about to enter fame through the backdoor of his heinous act as he becomes that iconic figure: the poet-murderer, the murderer as greater soul.

To end this circus and vindicate the victim, Philip will violate his oath, and break the law.

The Killing of Mindi Quintana is about celebrity through murder, the fascination we have with violent criminals, and it delivers the blow we all wish for when we see the media make heroes out of murderers.

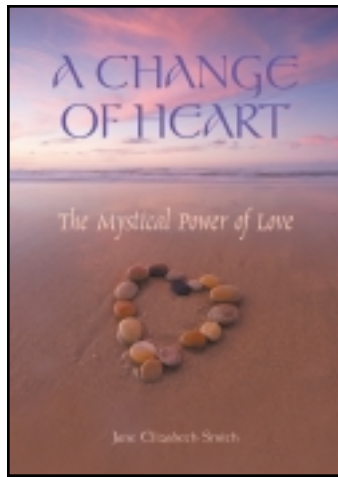

Jeffrey A. Cohen is a writer, trial attorney and technology entrepreneur living in Philadelphia. He has written on legal issues, including short stories and articles such as The Black-White Disconnect: A Conversation with Author David Bradley, on the O.J. Simpson trial, and Eight Days a Week, on legal ethics. A 1988 graduate of the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania, Mr. Cohen specialized in appellate, class action and mass tort litigation before entering the business world. He has sold four of his companies to publicly traded entities since 1996, and now writes full time.

Call Forth a Blessing

Prayers for Everyday Living

Jane Elizabeth Smith

Jane Elizabeth Smith’s little treasure trove of prayers for everyday life provides beautiful prayers for change, children, courage, difficult people, employment, evening prayers, faith, fear, forgiveness, friendship, grace, gratitude, grief, guidance, happiness, health, home, inner strength, the Kingdom of God, legal matters and love. Call Forth a Blessing is small enough to carry in a purse or pocket, while providing wisdom and solace for the reader, who will want to use Call Forth a Blessing again and again, especially when the vagaries of life overwhelm us. Jane Elizabeth Smith’s prayers evolved out of her own first hand experience of prayer’s miracles in her own life. Her message is life-changing: “If I can do this, so can you! And here are the Divine gifts that will guide and support you in creating the life of your dreams. You are Not alone. Call forth these blessings.”

Jane Smith received her bachelor of science degree in business from the University of Louisville. She is a certified master practitioner in Neuro Linguistic Programming, Time Empowerment and Hypnosis through the Association for Integrative Psychology. She is also the author of Your Three Wishes and A Change of Heart. She lives in Louisville, KY.
